

JADEXPLORER PRIVACY POLICY

Effective Date: March 29, 2019

Summary

JADEFURY LLC does not collect any personally-identifying information from local instances of JadeXplorer. We do not assume or claim ownership of any data gathered or stored by the Service.

JadeXplorer may periodically check in with an off-site server operated by JADEFURY LLC to verify licenses and license data. We may send data to the server if the license-related information is found to be incorrect or incomplete.

Optional web-traffic tracking can be implemented using Google Analytics for your own convenience.

Optional web accounts can be created for the Service. We do not collect this information or accept liability for storing any user passwords or data.

JadeXplorer use cookies to better personalize your experience. These cookies include session ID and Google Analytics-related data (if enabled). Cookies related to JadeXplorer are not used outside of the Service.

In this document, you will find the Privacy Policy for JadeXplorer (the Service), an information-collection tool created by JADEFURY LLC (us, we, our). You (the Customer), can find a copy of this located in the Service's footer on select pages, or from our website.

This page and/or document informs you of our policies regarding data collection, use, and disclosure of said information.

Information Collection and Usage

The Service collects several types of information crucial to the function of the service. This information is not shared with any third-party or to JADEFURY LLC. Below is a list of various information collected by the Service, and how it is used.

Computer and Asset-Related Information

The Service collects various information and data regarding technology and user-specified content. This data includes computer model, OS version, MAC addresses, recent user logins, and various other data. For a more detailed list of data collected automatically by our scripts, please see the Service documentation.

Data collection is limited to the scope of the Customer. Data will only be collected on computers and computer-related hardware to which scripts are deployed to. Any information manually entered by a web-user is also stored.

JADEFURY LLC does not collect information or data stored in the Customer's copy of the Service. We do not assume or claim ownership of any data gathered, received, or stored by the service, and assume ownership belongs to the Customer.

Personal Data

Personal data collected is limited to that of the Customer. If web-users are added, any information stored will be used by the Service. These accounts do not contain personally identifying information, and only contain username, password, session ID, and a unique account ID. Other personal information may be collected by Google Analytics if enabled, where JADEFURY LLC does not accept responsibility for this data collection.

Website Cookies

Cookies are utilized by the Service to allow for local web accounts to function. When a web-based user is logged in, the browser will obtain a session and username in the form of a cookie. These cookies will be collected by the Service to display customized content. The cookies are deleted when the session ends, or when the web-based user logs out of the Service.

If Google Analytics support is enabled, Google will give visitors various cookies. More information can be found in Google's unique Privacy Policy. Google Analytics is, by default, disabled and only enabled when a Service administrator enters a unique Analytics ID. JADEFURY LLC does not accept responsibility of data collection by Google.

Licensing Data

While the Service contains license-related data, the Service may contact our website to update any related information. This is the only time any data locally stored on your copy of the Service is transmitted to us. This data may be transferred periodically, and is sent when specific events occur in the Service. When the license string is sent to us, we verify the information associated with the license and report back to your copy of our Service. If conflicting information is found, the information hosted on your copy of our Service will be updated.

Disclosure of Data

JADEFURY LLC does not collect Service-level information on Customers. We have no plans to share information we do have, other than in requirement with local law.

Legal Requirements

JADEFURY LLC may disclose licensing information or Customer-given information if required to by law. Information, or lack of, may be shared when need be. As we do not assume ownership of any data, and collect limited information from the Customer's copy of our Service, information reporting will fall on the Customer if needed.

Data Security

Information stored by the Service is as secure as the Customer allows. Information is stored in a database accessible by two database users. While JADEFURY LLC recommends secure methods of setting up the Service, we do not accept responsibility for loss of data or unauthorized gathering of data.

Links to Third-Party Websites

The Service may link to other websites that may or may not be affiliated with us. These third-party websites may collect data and other information outside of the Service's scope, so we advise reviewing the Privacy Policy of third-party websites. We assume no responsibility of third-party content, practices, or policies third-party websites or services may contain.

The Service will contain links to JADEFURY LLC managed websites and/or services. This includes linking to jadefury.com or to these policies.

Changes to the Privacy Policy

If/When changes occur to this Privacy Policy, Customers and visitors to our website will be alerted of the change. We will do our best in alerting necessary parties and Customers ahead of time and offer a summary of changes from the previous version.

Contact Us

If you have any questions, concerns, or would like to reach out in regards to this Privacy Policy, you may contact privacy@jadefury.com for policy-related inquiries or contact@jadefury.com for general contact.

